POETRY.

DOUBT. Oh! Love, can'st thou exist without The golden mystery of a Doubt ? Wrapped round thee, like a cloud around The light of lightnings yet unbound ?

But oh ! 'tis agony of grief-Tis misery's wildest pang, and chief; No rest, no strength, no stay, no light-The chill, but not the charm of night.

But then, if certainty should come, That certainty soon grows thy tomb-With nought to fan thy mystic fire-Too soon 'tis fated to expire.

Thus Love! thou must be still below, Our fate, our tyrant, and our foe, Since no way seems for thee to be Our fixed and full felicity.

INCONSTANCY.

I love thee now, but not for long, My love is sunshine all, and song; And it will surely fade, and fast, For can sweet song and sunshine last?

The Butcher's boy is one of a humorous series of vignettes in Bell's Life in London. The caption and poetry explain it admirably:

"I shant! Master says as how he arn't going to send no more meat till the bill's paid. There's nine and-four-pence three fardens due, besides the lights for the cat and liver for the gemman in the two-pair backs."

Son of the Shambles, Slaughtering Sprout! The Gallery mount and sport your Phiz, And take it from the ear to snout, A precious ugly one it is.

Child of the Chump! of promise great, You seem in meditation deep, Destin'd ere long, no doubt, by fate, To kill a Calf or slay a Sheep.

Why do you stand like Porter stuck? Do shut that huge potatoe trap-Who carl'd those raven locks young pluck, Which play beneath your piebald cap? That vigorous arm will soon be seen

To floor an Heifer or an Ox, Or cleverly with cleaver keen, Divide a Bullock's knowledge box. Trot homeward with your empty tray, A faithful servant never stops— What is the price of Steaks to-day

What do you charge for Mutton Chops? Say in what market were you bred! Your Father's hope, your Mother's pride! Have you no tongue inside your head,

Why don't you speak, young Horns and Hide? "Sir, Ven I likes I'm close as vax, Perhaps you takes me for a muffin, But ven folks foolish questions ax

I thinks 'tis better to say nuffin. " As to the price of Chop or Steak You'll larn at any Butcher's stall, But, Sir, my Master's vide avake, He never gives no tick at all!!"

PERILS OF THE WHALE FISHERY.

What is the time requisite for capturing a whale. In answer to this question, Scorseby states that he has seen a whale despatched in fifteen minutes, and others alive after severe treatment, at the end of fifty hours. Much depends on the conduct of the animal itself-much on the activity of the whaler-and much also on the natur- of the situation and weather. He states, that the not exceed an hour. As bearing on this point, and exhibiting the surprising vigor of the mysticetus whale, we shall here introduce an anecdote related by Mr Scorseby. In 1817, the Royal Bounty of Leith, fell in with whales at a distance from land and ice, there being at the same time a brisk breeze and clear weather. The boats were manned and sent in pursuit. After a chase of five hours, one of the boats struck the whale about 4 A. M. The captain followed in the ship, and though for a time he lost sight of them, yet he again descried a hoat at 8 A. M., with a signal displayed of being fast. Some time after, he observed another boat approach the fish, a second harpoon struck, and a new signal displayed. As, however, the fish drew the two boats away with considerable speed, it was midday before any assistance could reach them. Two more harpoons were then struck; but such was the vigor of the whale, that, though it constantly dragged through the water from four to six boats, together with a length of nearly a thousand feet of line to each, yet it pursued its course nearly as fast as a boat could row: and such was the terror manifested on the approach of its enemies, that whenever a boat passed beyond its tail it invariable dived. All endeavors, therefore, to lance it were in vain. The crews of the loose boats, being unable to keep pace with the fish, moored themselves to the fast boats, and for some hours afterwards all hands were constrained to sit idle, waiting for some relaxation in the speed of the whale. Its general course had been to windward, but its changing enabled the ship, which had previously been at a great distance, to join the boats at 8 P. M. The vessel took one of the fast lines on board, with the view of retarding its progress. The sails were lowered and furled, but after supporting the ship for a few minutes, head to wind, the har-poon lost its hold. The whale immediately set off to windward with increased speed, and for three hours, the ship could not again approach it. Another line was then taken on board, but immediately broke. A fith harpoon had previously been struck, but its line was speedily cut. Various schemes for arresing the speed of the fish were then resorted to, which occupied close attention for nearly twelve hours; but its velocity was still such, that the master, who had himself proceeded to the attack, was unable to approach sufficiently near to strike a harpoon After a long chase, however, he succeeded in getting hold of one of the fast lines, and attached another line to it. The fish then fortunately turned towards the ship. At 4 P. M. thirty-six hours after it struck, the ship again joined the boats, when, by a successful manœuvre, they secured two of the fast lines on board. The wind was blowing a moderately brisk breeze, and the sails were lowered; but notwithstanding the resistance a ship thus situated must necessarily have offered, she was towed by the fish directly to windward, with a velocity of two knots, during an hour and a half; and then, though the whale must have been greatly exhausted, it heat the waters with its fins and tail in so tremendous a way, that the sea around was a continual foam, and the most hardy of the sailors scarcely dared to approach it. At length, about 8 P. M. after forty hours of almost incessant exertion, this formidable enemy

BOSTON MORNING POST.

MONDAY, MAY 8, 1837.

Phrenological Acumen.-Nothing was more common, during the time phrenology was in fashion, (made so by the death of Dr Spurzheim, which, as if it had been his resurrection, was considered an infallible proof of his greatness,) than to find individuals who were vesterday decided opposers of phrenology-to-day its most thorough disciples. What was the cause of this very sudden change in their opinions? Ask one of these new converts the question, and he would reply, that he could see no reason for believing Phrenology until Dr Gullgotha or 'Squire Jones had examined his head and so actually described his character, that it was impossible there should not be some truth in the science. Thus we knew a young mathematician who was very eminent for his genius and attainments, who confessed that he never believed phrenology, until Dr Spurzheim told him, upon his first introduction, that he had a decided genius for mathematics. The young man honestly supposed that Spurzheim judged as he professed to do, entirely by the shape of his head. Since that time, however, he has renounced his faith in this kind of divination, having probably ascertained some of the tricks of its possessors. The truth is, that the phrenologists, with no great share of any other kind of wisdom, knew how to flatter. Whenever one of these doctors examined a man's head, in the presence only of a few of his relatives or intimate friends, or when he was alone, he would, after inquiring his profession, occupation or calling, give him very nearly such a character as is held in the most esteem among his own class; -or he would ascertain by conversation what moral qualities the individual most admired, which are always the qualities he believes himself to possess. Now, though this character might be the very opposite of the true one, it was sufficient that it satisfied the individual who submitted to the examination. Only give an individual the character which he is known to admire, and he will be sure to believe that you have given him a correct one. By such stratagems, the professors of the wonderful science obtained thousands of converts. Again, to make their flattery more agreeable by giving it more the app arance of sincerity, they would occasionally perform great feats of independence. These feats of plain speaking were always performed in public, that there might be many spectators to witness the deed. For this purpose, they would generally select some poor sneaking-looking fellow, on whose countenance were strongly impressed the marks of meanness and imbecility, and then very bluntly declare, that a man with such a head (judging by his face) could never rise above mediocrity in any pursuit-that he had one of the lower order of intellects. Then would the learned doctor, after pronouncing his decision, grin and strut with the greatest self-complacency, and say to the audience, seVou that come to us, must not expect to be flattered. We tell the truth, whatever it is-and the truth will not always flatter." How flattering was such a speech to those whom he had flatteredto those blockheads whom this plain-spoken man had declared to be men of talents! With what wonderful saga city must be be possessed, would all, whether intelligent or stupid, exclaim, who had been flattered by what the considered a correct description of their characters.

Common Sense .- We were talking with an old and industrious farmer, some days since, who, after giving an account of the honest means by which he had acquired a comfortable independency for his old age, made some remarks upon the pecuniary distress of the times. He said that he had heard much about it, but had not felt it, and did not expect to feel it. He remirked that he had earned his fortune by the sweat of his brow and not by gambling or speculation, which we found the old man considered as nearly synonimous terms. He had always been willing to assist any horest and frugal young man of his acquaintance. He had observed that such as were ignorant either of a trade or profession, always seemed anxious to enter into mercantile business; all this was very right, but for the fact that they were quite too desirous of beginning upon other people's means. They were impressed with the notion, that there was no disgrace in bankruptcy, and that as they themselves were poor they could loose nothing by failure-and very many would add that in case of such a misfortune, they should take care to pocket sufficient cash to balance the evil. "To such young sharpers," continued the old man, "I never telt disposed to yield any assistance." He thought a sum of money loaned to one of these young speculators was loaned at about the same risk, as if it were placed in the hands of a novice, who wished to try his luck at a gambling table. He thought that the old General was not quite so much in an error after all, if he said, as the whigs accuse hon of saying, "that all who trade on borowed capital orght to break." He thought so likewise in all those instances, in which the borrower becomes extravagant in his expenses, and imprudent in his adventures from the consideration, that his creditors alone would suffer, if he should break-that he himself could not be poorer than when he began, since he began with nothing. The old man did not condemn the credit system, and he did not think that Jackson wouldbut he condemned its excesses-and the extravagances and imprudent enterprises that resulted from it. He remarked that young men were not so prudent in the manner of conducting their business nor so economical in their expenses, when they traded upon borrowed capital, as when they traded upon their own foundation. We will endeavor to have another talk with the old man soon,

Mr Webster's last Somerset .- Mr Webster, in his late address to the New York whigs, says-

" You are for equal laws, for the equal rights of all men, for constitutional and just restraints on power, for the substance, and not the shadowy image only of popular institutions, for a government which has liberty for its spirit and soul, as well as in its forms. So am I."

Among the demands which he urges all true whigs to persist in making upon government, are these-

" Make men's rights equal and leave the government of he country where the constitution leaves it, in the hands of the representatives of the people in Con-

He also has something to say about the "monied aristocracy." This sudden conversion to the doctrine of Equal Rights, while bolstering up the United States Bank, looks very much like a trick of the demagogue; while the assertion that the government of the country is placed by the constitution in the hands of Congress, shows what ideas he has about constitutional and just restraints on POWER. In 1820, so far from admitting an Equality of Rights to be the basis of our institutions, he prenounced a great sub-division of the soil, and a great equality of condition—the true basis, most certainly, of a popular government." Again, he said, "as if Montesquieu had never demonstrated the necessity of separating the departments of government; as if the sentiments of Mr Hami ton and Mr Macison were already forgotten; we see all around us a tendency to extend the legislative power over the proper sphere of the other departments-" and he complained that there was great difficulty in preserving the Executive and Judicial departments "FROM THE PRO-GRESS OF LEGISLATIVE ENCROACHMENT. As the Legislature," said he, "from the very nature of things, is the MOST POWERFUL department, it bec mes necessary to provide, in the mode of forming it, some check, which shall ensure deliberation and caution in its measures." Again, "I understand the reasons of checks and balances in the Legislative power, to arise from the truth, that in representative governments, THAT department is the LEADING AND PREDOMINATING POWER; and if its will may be, at any time, hastily and suddenly expressed, there is great danger that it may overthow all other powers."

But now the Expounder of the Constitution ("as if the sentiments of Mr Hamilton and Mr Madison were already forgotten,") proclaims to all true whigs, that the Constitution left the government of the country in the hands of Congress! The checks and balances placed by it in the hand of the President to protect his own department and the state governments from "the progress of legislative encoachment," are denounced; because the late President curbed the headlong and intemperate measures of the most powerful and the leading and predominating power, which Mr Webster said, in 1820, "undoubtedly possesses great means of INFLUENCING public opinion." The log-rolling and corruption, of which Congress has been guilty at different periods have proved, beyond doubt, that it needs checking. The attempts of members of Congress to influence public opinion have been backed by indirect bribes, so that a strong and bonest Executive and a Judiciary which shall curb Congress in its progress in legislative encroachment, have become absolutely necessary to keep our government from becoming a mere legislative despotism, managed by intriguing politicians, whose whole art consists in combining different factions so as to create

The veto power (which whig governers use in matters of dollars, or rather cents,) is no longer to be used by the Executive to preserve his department from legislative encroachment, and to check corruption, and hasty measures. But it is suddenly discovered that the constitution has placed the government, not in the hands of separate and independent departments, but "in the hands of the representatives of the people in Congress." Great expounder of the Constitution ! Friend of Equal Ri hts and Equal Laws! How admirable is your plan of "checking

The proposition of the whigs to call Congress together immediately, (while the steam is up and they are denouncing government for their own speculations,) is another gode of 'clecking power." Trely Mr Webster has nade our government a more "simp e machine" than ever Madison, or Jefferson, or Jackson took it to be. The government is placed in the hands of Congress! But the poor tools who framed the Constitution, thought that they had placed it in the hands of the States and the Federal Government; in the latter, of which they took care to have scrarate departments, and to enumerate all the powers de'egated to Congress. Mr Webster has not done yet with his scare crow, "ONE MAN."

Business in the Country .- The Nashua Gazette informs us that the Nashua Railroad was commenced by the evergetic contractors last week, and is now rapidly progressing at several points on the road.

Mr Bemis has sold the Concord Gazette to Mr Jefts. The latter gentleman, in his introductory, seems to give his predecessor a back-handed blow in the following sen-

"It is proposed to make considerable improvement in the appearance of the paper, and if possible, in its character. The publisher will endeavor to put forth a journal deserving the patronage of the public."

This is not exactly saving that the Gazette has heretofore been undeserving public patronage, but comes pretty near it. The FREEMAN can give the Gazette six and then leat it, any time.

Great Attractions .- Mr Crafts will have the aid of a rare combination of talents this evening, at his benefit at the Tremont His Lord-hip Eul FINN, has manifested a generosity worthy of his exalted rank on the occasion. Col. Whearly will grace the entertainment by her appearance ! O, Crafts, your house will be crammed " to kill."

At the National, Tom and Jerry and a new comic pantomine, called the Farmer's Sen, are to be performed for the benefit of Messrs Walbourn, Davis, and Taylor. The first piece, it is expected, will be presented with unusual effect. Mr Sheridan will appear in the boxing scene, with several amateurs

Theatre, Baltimore .- Holiday Street was " filled to the brim" on Monday evening, with the beauty and fashion of our city, (says the Republican) to witness the first appearance of a new luminary, in Miss ELLEN TREE. At a Town Meeting of the inhabitants of Methuen on rhe first instaut, it was voted to pay the debts of the town with its portion of the Surplus Revenue, and loan the test to some bank. It was also voted to buy a Hearse.

paid last week at the Custom House. It is reported, we know not with what truth, that considerable amounts of specie are on the way to New York from the west."

The Buffalo Banks .- On application of the Bank Commissioners the Chancellor has laid an injunction on the three banks at Buffalo, and for the time stopped their business. The cause was, not that the banks had stopped payment or were likely to do so, but that the Directors porrowed too much of the money themselves, and as they did not keep within the limits prescribed to the Commissioners, they, in conformity with the provisions of the Sa'ety Fund Act, sent out an injunction. We do not understand that there is any doubt about the solvency of those Banks. The bill holders certainly have nothing to fear, says the Journal of Commerce.

The General Banking Law has been lost in the New York Senate by the striking out of the enacting clause. Its fate was decided by 12 votes against 10.

A letter from New York, dated 4 o'clock vesterday af ternoon, states that a run had been made on the Dry Dock Bank of that city. The Bank of America, National, and Merchants' Banks came forward to its relief, and no doubt was entertained but it would stand the shock unin-

Virginia Elections .- There has been a great democratic gain in Winchester district. Col. James M. Mason has been chosen to Congress by upwards of seven hundred majority. The Richmond Enquirer says-

We have lost the Senator in the Northern Neck. nay also lose Mr. Dyer in the Pitt-ylvania district. But we shall protably gain a republican Senator, in the Harrison district, in place of Mr. Goff, declined. Should the event verify this calculation, we shall have lost two Senators-equal to four votes. In the last Senate, the two parties stood, 21 republicans, 11 whigs, and in the next, they will consequently be 19 republicans, 13 whigs, a snug ajority of 6 republicans.

We shall probably gain more in the House of Delegates, than we lose in the Senate.

We have lost I delegate in Caroline, I in Stafford, and

We shall probably have a majority of 6 in the Senate; an increased majority in the House of Delegates; and an increased majority, on joint ballot, in both houses.

NEW YORK, 5 May, 1837.

Monsieur Editor:-While confined in the dungeons of St. Angelo, I had not the power to rebot the calumnies of which I have been the object; now that my feet are on a soil of liberty, I hold it a duty to explain to my country-men the infamous outrage of which I was the victim. r cent. Mechanic's Bank had advanced from 80 to * * * The papal government, uneasy at seeing me This stock a week back brought 128. Since the traverse, with my brother, the plains of Rome, in the enjoyment of the chase, conceived the design of arresting me; but the agents of the Holy Father dared not meet me face to face. One day as I was passing through the village of Canino, on a hunting excursion, an officer of gend'armerie a costed me in a friendly manner, he was conversing familiarly with me, when of a sudden some thirty soldiers appeared from the adjoining streets, and one of them preented a pistol at me; it missed fire, and with my couteaude chasse I gave him a serious wound. The officer had raised his arm to cut me down, but I laid him dead upon the ground, and disabled another soldier; the others drew back and fired several shots at me, one of which took effect upon my head, and I fell; as I lay upon the ground, I reeived several bayonet wounds. In this condition, and cound, I was dragged to the castle of St. Angelo. But for In this condition, and the wound which stunned me, I would have put them to flight or died, like a Frenchman and a soldier, defending myself to the last. I was tried by a special tribunal -my sentence was decreed beforehand-the court of Rome ought to wreak upon me the hatred it bears my race. I should have undergone an ignominious death, but for the intervention of my family, and particularly of Cardinal Fesch, who represented strongly to the Pope the abominable conduct of his agents. The Pope himself confessed that he had been deceived by false reports. After nine months of imprisonment, I am again at liberty, and my first care is to defend my honor.

Their request was refused, sans ceremonie. The quantity allowed to be taken on board each ship at single duties, is one hundred piculs—for all over that quantity, double duties must be paid.

Rebecca.-Well, I'll tell you how that thing came to pass. I believed that I was truly a widow, when I married Mr Grimes. Then Mr Grimes went away, and has been gone these three years, and I had no idee that he ever meant to come back ; and when I met Mr White I did n't know there was any harm in marrying him.

Court .- You have certainly shown a very bad example to your daughters.

Rebecca.-I don't know as I have.

Court .- Why, you heard what the witnesses all said ! Rebecca.-I hope you don't believe what is sworn by people like them, who do not stand in fear of the Lord. * Court-I have no doubt of your guilt, and I shall sentence you to one year's imprisonment in the House of Correction. Such houses must be broken up. Rebecca. - I vow that's a shame. If you break up one, you ought to break them all round, where I live. There is a house at the corner of Richmond and Ann streets, that has been kept for years, and nobody ever trouvles them about it; while I have hardly had my house a year, and it is the Arst one I ever undertook to keep. Fair play, and no favors, I say. I have as much right to keep a house as my neighbors.

Court - We mean to break them all up, as fast as we can.

Charles White, who had been married to Rebecca a week, was also convicted of a participation in her traffic ; but it seemed probable that he had been decoyed into the snarl, while blue His Honor accommodated him with a fine of $30. 0, and cost -with the alternative of three months in the House of Correcion. So if Charley is out of funds, he is sure of a living for three months - an assurance that is not to be sneezed at in these "hard pressure times." O ne great consolation left him, is, that his marriage with Rebecca is no more binding than a lover's vow, or a repe of sand.

Neal M'Laughlin was convicted of keeping a disorderly house. Fiddling, dancing, drinking, wrangling, and fighting were the characteristics of his nightly levees - nothing worse -Fined $30.00, without costs, with an admonition "to keep his wife in order, as he was bound to do by law." Recollect that, married ladies!

POLICE COURT.

Thomas J. Elliott was prosecuted as a common drunkard When the warrant was presented to him he agreed to face it in an hour, and was not arrested. At the expiration of the hour he was on hand. This redemption of his pledge, placed him " rectus in curia ;" and when he requested a day to bring coun ter wi'nesses, it was granted him, on his personal recognisance The real truth was, he was a pretty handsome and decently dressed fellow, who kept his word, and flogged his wife, with great regularity, but why he did so, did not appear, though he challenged investigation. The principal thing proved against him was that he had threatened " to spoil the face" of the complainant. This, of course, was tantamount to a threat to spoil his looks, and Elliott was ordered to give bonds not to do that thing, or any thing like it.

Poking fun at a Lobster man .- John and Jarvis Chandler were charged with an assault on Francis Oliver, proprietor of a wheel barrow, and vender of lobsters. NACEA, or the Vegetable Life Bitters, which yield all their virtues to wine, or Boiling Water. In the prefuce to the 2d edition of Doct Thatcher's Dispen-

In the pretace to the 2d edition of Doct Thatcher's Dispensatory, are the following remarks: "Every thing invites and constrains to explore the recesses of the mountains and fields, for the earth is replete with riches "—"Let the cultivating hand of science be extended to bring into view the hidden treasures which have so long remained unenjoyed." "If the native Indians possessed a knowledge of practical botany to fulfit their medical purposes, what may not be expected when these advantages are joined with civilization and modern improvements."

Shawmur, the father of the present Grand Sachem of the Pawnee tribe of Indians, like the most of his brethren, was of Pawee tribe of Indians, like the most of his brethren, was of idle and indolent habits, as to work—but possessed of peculiar industry, curiosity and tact in looking into the nature and use of medicinal plants—many years were passed in this way, until he at length declared to his kindred that he was possessed of a vegetable composition, which would cure almost any complaint which had not been of too long standing, and for more than twenty years his medicine was used with invaiable success among all the tribes, from the Lakes to the Pacific Ocean.

The proprietor of this Panacea was one of the travellers in the late expedition to the Rocky Mountains, and hearing so much of the great cures performed by the Vegetable Life Bitters, that he, at great expense, purchased of the present Sa-chem, the receipt for the preparation, and for more than two years they have been tried in New York and Albany, with every benefit which had I een so sanguinely expected.

Thuse who are unacquainted with the Indian character, will be surprised to learn that the following articles were first discovered by native sons of the soil, viz: Indian Arrow Root (Maranda Arunda,) Indian Tobacco (Lobelia,) Indian Pink, or Pink Root (Spigetia,) Indian Rubber, Indian Wheat, or Corn, Indian Leaf, or Laurus Cassia, and numerous other articles, now in general use throughout the world. These facts are alluded to, simply to prove that the Indians are not that stund race so concently supposed but on the contrary that stupid race so generally supposed, but on the contrary that stupid race so generally supposed, but on the contrary that they are a sagacious and discerning people.

Disorders cured by the Indian Panacea.—Jaundice and Drowsiness, so common in the Spring and Summer months—also, Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Head-Ache, Flatuence, Rheumavism, and all impuri-ties of the blood. The efficacy of this Panacea, in purifying the blood from all gross humors, from b orches, pimples, &c. &c., from all parts of the body, is really astonishing, except te those who have witnessed it. The wonderful cures performed also in weakness of the limbs, general debility, want of appetite, billious and liver complaints, are truly great and

This Panacea has also been found extremely beneficial in Dropsy, Gravel, Piles, inward Weakness, Depression of Spirits, Worms, Female Obstructions, Bad Breath, &c. &c.

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH Corns!

TILL find in the use of the ALBION CORN PLASTER one of the most efficacious remedies known for that troublesome complaint, as hundreds or thousands can, and are ready to testify to its having answered a better purpose than any thing they had ever used. This application never causes the least pain, although it softens the corn, and draws it out by the roots. It gives immediate case as soon as applied, and is as thorough as it is gentle in itseffects.

ADAMS'S PATENT

WE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of he Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and clastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case office as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the willE most safe, effectual and economical remedy for diseases of the Human Constitution, that has ever been discovered.

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the liver; or, in other words, an increased or diminished se cretion of the Bile.

cretion of the Bile.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are billous, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated, because nourishment contained in the food taken into the stomach is not properly extracted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr Kingley is confident that the famous Hygeian Theory, so called, that "impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases," is a great absurdity. Every one who reflects upon the subject a moment, will perceive that impurity of the blood is a secondary, not a primary complaint—the effect and not the cause of disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and an intention into the circulation, and because minimed with the blood as in Jaunary, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the liver, and restore it to a healthy state.

Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with dif-erent vegetable medicines, for diseases of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the best, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated nevolent then pecuniary motives, as the price of the medicine

Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with regetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Pills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleanse the stomach and bowels by purging but they regulate the liver, change the morbid secretions, strengthen the digestive organs, purify the blood, invigorate the circubation, and give tone and energy to the nervous system.

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and convey dmost immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with safety by persons of any age, and the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humor-, quiet nervous irritabilities and restles-ness, from what-wor, quiet hervous irritabilities and restles-ness, from what-ever source, and invariably produce sound sleep.

The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the aundice, sick an! nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburn, all belious complaints, fevers of all kinds, and ittaken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dan-gerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypo-condrical affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which females alone are subject. They operate as a mild service. which iemales alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a sate and certain remedy for worms in They operate as a mild and

A N account of that most excellent Medicine prepared at Dr Loveman's Gilead House. Price 50 cents per hottle.
Sold by appointment in Boston, at D. S. ROWLAND'S, 188
Warkington to the Poor of the Control of the Con To administer to a mind diseased, pluck from the Memory

"To administer to a mind discussion, and arooted Sorrow, "Raze out the written troubles of the Brain, and with some sweet oblivious Antidote,
"Cleanse the foul Bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the Heart."

Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the bands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspiration. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensation.

It is a most valuable remedy for such diseases as are attended with the following symptoms, namely—a great straitness of the breast, with difficulty of breathing—violent palpitations of the heart, sudden flasces of heat in various parts of the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick—yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffication, as from a ball or lump in the throat—alternate fits of crying and convulsive langhing—the sleep unternate fits of crying and convulsive langhing—the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested indiwith normal grams. Much has been said by interested indi-viduals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Love-man's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentle' safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

"Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune; Honors, Riches, and all other advontages are useless."

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequerdered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily de emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadure demonstrated, in oradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind. Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with eve

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every trial of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to fleshth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let these who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hearseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of theeyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linnæus's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a roadvice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess " The foundation of a happy old age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at good constitution in youth; temper-ness, that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing balm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellabalm is suitable—and Consumptive, are those for which it is

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all disea-ses recommended, as I am fully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are ex-tracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earthly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how they may be afflicted. This medicine has been used by a large number of persons, and have been cured of diseases of a long standing, when all other medicines have failed.

THE TRUTH WILL PREVAIL. CERTAIN DISEASES CURED. Dr. Goodwill's Gonorrhaa and Gleet Detergent.

WHE only infallible remedy ever discovered for Gonorrhos and Gleets is now become too well known and established, in all parts of the Union, to require comment. Its universal success, which in no instance has ever failed, has warversal success, which in no instance has ever failed, has warranted it to cure in forty-eight hours the most desperate and inflammatory cases of Gonorthon, Gleets, and whites in all their stages, strictures, Seminal Weaknesses, pains in the loins, irritation of the Uretura from Gravel, as well as chronic affections of the urinary bladder and kidneys, if ever so violent or of long standing. This safe and only intallible remedy is an agreeable liquid, and its effects long on the constitution, (being composed of Sarsaparilla and the choicest of preparations) that while it restores the system, its superiority over every other kind of medicine only requires a limited triat to know its efficacy. TTO THE PUBLIC.—Anacreon, the prince of ancien poets, the lover and the eulogist of the ladies, never forgot, in his odes, to mentiod of the teeth of pearl.

Ovid never for one moment lost sight of the "balmy breath" of his ladies, and his earnest recommendation to both sexes was ever to "keep your teeth elean, and your breath sweet." The ancients had the means of doing so. Anacreon's heauties were as noted for their flowing zones and their eyes of fire, as for their teeth of pearl and their breath of balm.

Ovid, who has taught us how to love and be loved, laid more stress upon the teeth and breath, than any other point—and verily these precepts are worthy of our practice. How many matches have been broken off-how many tes separated-how much misery caused by the single fault of a bad breath. I once heard a lady sing, and most divinely. Her voice was clear, full and melodious, her tones superb, but the air beyond endurance. Who does not wish to have this defect remedied? What lady does not wish to be biessed with the "teeth of pearl and the balmy breath," so noted by the divine Anacreon? What gentler an does not wish to be in every wish agreeable to the

THE REMEDY IS IN YOUR OWN HANDS-Dr Paimer's Dimon Pearl Tooth Powder and Brushes is offered as a remedy whose effects are as certain as they are delightful.

This excellent tooth powder is not the invention of the pres ent day. It has not been confined to modern times, and Dr Palmer has had the happiness of restoring, in its purty, the long lost article which was in such vogue in the days of yore. It is offered with the fullest confidence as to its merits, to which thousands who have used it can testity, and should any lady or gentleman who, by misfortune, have been affliced with noisome breath or bad teeth, make one trial of its virtues, and not feel perfectly satisfied of its efficacy, then "Othello's occupation's gone." The Diman Pearl Tooth Powder and Brushes is no modern quackery. It requires no pulling, no paragraphing, te render it uses as general as its effects are delightful. The ingredients are of a nature which cannot injure, and must beautify the teeth and sweeten the breath. The certificates of many of the ablest medical practitioners of this country will restify to the fact, and the innumerable recommendatory letters, from ladies and gentlemen who have used it are sufficient guarantees for its worth.
